

How can you shape your world?

If you would like to know more about the work of Fair-trade and what you can do to help, why not spend some more time in research?

Where might you see injustice in the world?

What can you do to make a positive change?

How can you speak out about injustice?

What choices do you have in your life that might impact not just people around you, but half way across the world?